

Computer software

Basic computer literacy

314965,VH VHS videocassette
38 min JSA 2000 Diamond Entertainment Corporation
Provides detailed information about the hardware and software for DOS and Windows computer systems. Answers many of the common questions about computers, explaining basic computer concepts, how computers work, and identifying different types of computers. Describes the difference between mainframe and microcomputers and Ram and Rom, and features an introduction to computer disks, memory, hard drives, and keyboards.

Computer software; BASIC (Computer program language); Computer literacy; Computers—Study and teaching; Operating systems (Computers); Magnetic memory (Computers); Computer input-output equipment; Programming languages (Electronic computers); Hard disks (Computer science); Floppy disks; Computer networks; Electronic data processing; Computer logic; Computer science

Student writing center

140224,CS Computer software
1 dk IJSH
Student writing center combines full-featured word processing and easy desk-top publishing with incredible student features to assist students in every step of the writing process. Special student features include: Bibliography maker, grammar tips, writing tips, title page, journal with password.

Word processing; Computer software; Desktop publishing