10 min PI 1984 EBEC
While listening to bird's song, boy whittles out a flute and plays a birdlike tune. A passing flock of sheep contributes bells, which he hangs in a row from a pole. He then constructs a log that has nails which strike the bells as it revolves. Grandpa joins in by rubbing his saw. By the end of the film, boy has created the three basic types of musical instruments - winds, strings, and percussion. Video/film

Give the Ballot to the Mothers: Songs of the Suffragists

313123,VH VHS videocassette
28 min JS 1996
This is a documentary video which chronicles and explores the music arising out of the American woman Suffragist Movement. These songs reflect the tenor and spirit of the Suffrage Movement in a way no written word can convey. Written testimony, musical performances, historical cartoons, period photographs, and scholarly commentary reveal how song reflects the history of the struggle to gain votes for women, from the first Women's Rights Convention in 1848, to the 1920 passage of the Nineteenth Amendment.
